Paxos Consensus in Distributed Systems

Paxos consensus achieves fault-tolerant agreement in asynchronous distributed systems.

Raft consensus decomposes state machine replication into leader election and log replication.

Byzantine fault tolerance tolerates arbitrary node failures using quorum voting.